From Our Clients:

“Especially in this age of digital and online media proliferation, your magazine continues to be an inspiration to riders, industry publications, and small businesses across the country. You have developed a significant and influential presence in the marketplace.”

Sabine Schleese, Schleese Saddlery

“As an advertiser, it is a real pleasure to work with CHJ. They’re not just selling ad space. We’re especially pleased because we feel like they are a part of our team, helping us succeed too. And they do it effectively. You can tell from their writing that they put in a lot of effort to accurately understand and stay up-to-date on the science of horse health. We look forward to continuing this successful relationship for a long time.”

Barbara Socha, Signal-Health LLC/Signal-Health Canada Inc.

“Beautiful, beautiful, beautiful, wonderful issue. I haven’t put the darn thing down since the copies arrived.”

Testimonials

“Nothing will keep me from getting and reading CHJ.”
— Kathryn M., Kars, ON

“As long as I’m a horse nut, chances are I’ll be reading CHJ. I’m fairly confident that the nuttiness isn’t going away any time soon!”
— E. Wain, Whitehorse, YT

“It’s a very high-quality publication and something we find as an effective way to reach out to people in the province. It was our very first association partner over 20 years ago, and we’ve worked consistently with CHJ and watched them grow and flourish to become the largest horse magazine in Canada. “They have dedicated readers who go to that publication every issue so we find it a very effective vehicle to put our news into and get the message out to members on different things that are happening because it’s so well read.”
— Lisa Laycock, Executive Director, HCBC

Manes & Tails the EcoLicious Way

We all want our horse to have a thick, shiny tail, but achieving that can sometimes be difficult. Here are some tips and tricks to help your horse’s tail grow thick and shiny...

From the Inside-Out

Horses, just like people, need proper nutrition to grow hair well. Breed genetics play a part, but diet is important. Check what your horse is eating and make sure he has a complete, balanced diet. A supplement with omega 3 fatty acids or B vitamin biotin may help stimulate hair growth.

Put Down the Brush

Brushing the tail too much rips hair out. Instead and brush only when the circulation and do not take the time to let the tail lay out. Start in the tail from the top to bottom (and keep your barn also through the tail and use the MANIAC Mane & Tail Detangler Infusion to keep it slick. Shear your horse’s tail moisturized day to day. Leave your horse for shows only! When you do, comb through the tail, hold the tail against your thigh and brush from the bottom up with.

“...we have been providing liability insurance coverage to horse owners as an automatic benefit associated with membership in provincial equine associations across the country (HCBC, AEF, OES, NSF etc.),” says Michael King, the Partner responsible for equine Industry risk management and related programming at CapriCMW. “The insurance program available exclusively through membership has insured hundreds of thousands of individuals over the years and continues to be an important part of risk management associated with a lifestyle where horses are present.”

He says that the coverage is very cost-effective, provides a high level of $5 million per occurrence and is broad in scope. It will cover the member regardless of the number of horses owned, leased, or borrowed that are being used for personal purposes and it covers the member internationally with no restriction to any single

Do cheaper print ads deliver comparable value? How can I tell?

If you’re buying advertising on price alone, you may not be getting the best value. Shopping by price means you could be missing out on important elements that comprise value. Just like anything else, you get what you pay for.

Here’s how to compare “apples to apples”:

• When you buy magazine advertising, you’re really buying access to the magazine’s readers. If the cheaper magazine reaches a fraction of the readers of the other magazine, the cheaper ad at a higher cost-per-reader is more expensive;

• Are the articles well-written and informative? The calibre of the editorial content is extremely important — if readers love and trust the magazine’s content and spend time reading it, your ad message will be well-received. But if they flip through and then toss it in the recycling bin... well, you get the picture. Read the magazines — all too often you’ll find recycled horse show reports and press releases.

• Is the magazine well-designed, on quality paper, and appealing to read? The production values of design, layout, and paper quality greatly enhance the magazine’s appeal.

• Is the magazine standard size with a healthy page count? Size matters — both physical dimensions and number of pages. The larger your ad, the greater the impact. Is your small ad in a poor quality magazine really the way you want to present your business to the world?

Take the time to read the magazines you’re considering, and judge for yourself. Compare apples to apples and understand the true value. You’ll save money in the long run, and make a smarter investment in the future of your business.

Are extra services available?

Professional design, included in our rates, will improve your ad response and you’ll save the expense of hiring a freelance designer, or wasting hours of your weekend trying to design your own ad.

Do you offer product reviews and press releases?

We provide editorial support to our clients by publishing their news, press releases, and new product information in the print edition, in our Hoofbeat E-Newsletter, on HORSEJournals.com, and on Social Media. Selected products and new releases are reviewed by knowledgeable and experienced horse people.

If you have a product you’d like us to consider for review, please ask your customer service representative for details.

Products we have reviewed: Mare Support by SciencePure Nutraceuticals (below), and EQyss Crib-Guard (right).
“Over the years your publications have always been very educational and professionally written. I have always appreciated the fact that articles were written using factual and scientific information that is geared to helping the horse owner broaden their knowledge. The special interest stories are always well written and enlighten your readers. The quality of the publications has been excellent over the years and continues to improve. The growth you have experienced, I believe, is due to the fact the magazine covers a broad spectrum of the horse industry. There are very few horse publications that survive the test of time as you have. Congratulations again and keep up the good work.”

Les Burwash, former Manager of Horse Programs, AB Agriculture

“It is my pleasure to gratefully acknowledge the years of service that Kathy Smith has provided to the Canadian equine industry through Canadian Horse Journal. By her selection of competent and informed writers, technical staff, and strategic management, Kathy has created and developed the go-to equine publication in Canada.”
